LADIES ANXIOUS TO GO.

Hundreds of army officers' wives have been thrown into deep distress by the War Department's order refusing them transportation on the government vessels to Manila, and tearful remonstrances are being received daily against what they term an infringement on their freedom. The government can not prevent the ladies from joining their husbands, if they pay their own transportation, but few can afford the cost of a journey, which is even more expensive now than usually, owing to the reduced number of ships plying between this country and Chinese and East Indian waters.

Nearly every suitable vessel former-ly engaged in the trade with the Orient so that the few now in operation have a monopoly on the carrying trade and have put up the rates to an exorbitant extent. The War Department does not wish women to be with the troops at Manila, and, acting under a sugges-tion from General Otis last summer, refused transportation to the families of all officers soon after the dewith them their wives and children at government expense. All the earlier ships proceeding by the Suez canal, from New York, caried, in addition to the soldiers, from 50 to 100 women who were either wives of officers on board or were go ing to join their husbands in Manila. Then came Gen. Otis's protest. He found that it was often necessary to re in large detachments of troops around Manila to afford protection to the wo men and children, and on one occ sion, when there was fi ing near the city, it was necessary to put all the women and children on transports to insure their easety. Secretary Root's order was issued because of the lack of quarters on ships to transport all the fami lies wishing to go, as well as for military reasons, and the difficulty in se curing quarters and comforts for them in the Philippines.

The women seem to be willing to undergo all hardships if the War Department will permit them to take passage on the transports.

A CONFIDENCE SCHEME.

Samuel Stern, president of the John Gibson. W. Daniel Club, and a leader in Richmond politics, has been enticed from the bis home in that city to Baltimore, and an effort made by men of Baltimore to mediately relieves and cures coughs, colds, entrap him into a scheme to manufacture gold. A few days ago he received a letter urging him to come at once to Baltimore. He went, he was taken into a small room by three men, and a plan unfolded to make 22-carat gold and sell it in Europe. Mr. Graff, inventor of the process, told Mr Stern that in the manufacture of this gold he used petroleum and several other kinds of oils, together with certain acids mixed carefully in mathematical proportions. Certain amounts of real gold and silver were used. All of these should be put into warm sand and buried. A certain steam pressure would be turned on and the ingredients subjected to this for so many days, hours, minutes and seconds by actual time measurement.

Graff had a book which he claimed to be many bundred years of age, and which he declared came down from generation to generation through a re-gular succession of magicians and wise men from the time of King Solomon. Graff declined to allow anyone to see the inside of this volume, which con-tained wonderfully valuable secrets on the manufacture of gold hitherto un

Mr. Stern, in reply to questions, was told that to make twenty-five pounds of genuine 22-c-rat gold two pounds of the sgenuine stuff, cesting about $750, would be required. For the same amount of gold in a short time fourteen pounds of silver and nearly two pounds of the yellow metal would be required. These, with the acids, oils, and other materials and facilities, would cost about $100 for the first twenty five pounds of gold, which would be made as a sample and tested to the satisfaction of any reputable assayer. Mr. Stern took under advisement the proposition to put up collateral to make a

ATTACKED BY A BULL .- All possum hunters do not know that a bull will attack a lautern if seen in the dark, but more of them know it now than did a week ago. As a party was re-turning a few nights since through the Nelson place near Shumate's old mill, a bull approached and every man started to take care of himself. The bull pushed them close and when they got to the stream, in they splashed like Chesapeake waterdogs. The lantern was left on the bank and the bull con-tented himself with breaking it up, and finally went off with it hanging on one Carter & Howard, horn .- [Warrenton Virginian.
